History of Oregon

From the Earliest Period to the Present Time
BY HUBERT HOWE BASCROFT.

Just published, complete in two vols., with index. A thoroughly presented work of knowledge. The pride of a people who are proud of their record. A household necessity; a national treasure. Everywhere. No agent can at all compare with the work of the people of Oregon, and to all others interested in the welfare of their country. It contains a record of brave deeds, of grand emigrations and permanent organizations. It is the life of an important part of the nation. No true Oregonian, no true American will fail to secure this work, now for the first time offered separately from the full set of Mr. Bancroft's marvelous historical series in 30 vols.

Earnest, active workers should secure exclusive territory, immediately, or they will lose a rare opportunity to make for themselves.

Agents Wanted
The History of Oregon, a well-known steamboat engineer, who had been feeling poorly for some time, went on board the steamer Telephone this afternoon to go to Portland to-night.

"How are you feeling, Captain?" asked Captain Scott. "A good deal better," said Mr. Buchanan. He walked to the lower deck and dropped dead from heart disease. The body will be taken to Portland to-night.

Severe Earthquake Shock.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—One of the heaviest shocks of earthquake felt in this city for years occurred here about 4:45 o'clock this morning. People were awakened by the rattling of windows and shaking of buildings. No damage is reported.

The clocks at the Palace, Grand and Occidental hotels stopped, and the great clocks at the ferries on this and the Oakland side of the bay stopped.

Kilrain has decided to challenge Sullivan to another fight.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE NEAR JUNCTION.

A Barn And All Its Contents Destroyed by Incendiaries.

[Special to the Capital Journal.]
JUNCTION, Or., August 1.—At two o'clock this (Thursday) morning the barn of George Bailey, three-fourths of a mile south of town, was discovered to be on fire.

The fire was under such headway when discovered it was impossible to move anything from the building. Five head of horses, including a fine young stallion, forty tons of hay and 1800 bushels of grain, some machinery, harness, etc., were burned. Loss $3000; no insurance.

Mr. Bailey was at the barn at nine o'clock of the evening before and everything was all right. He says he is satisfied the fire was set by some person who wished to do him harm.

Woman Suffrage in England.

LONDON, July 31.—Woman suffrage is rapidly becoming a vital issue in British statesmanship. Women are more engaged in politics in Great Britain than in any other constitutional country. Mr. Gladstone himself does not more disinterestedly devote his time to the public interests than does Mrs. Gladstone, nor Lord Salisbury than Lady Salisbury, nor Lord Randolph Churchill than Lady Randolph.

The same might be said down through the rank and file. The strange phenomenon is presented of women all but universally adorning themselves with the brevet of political responsibility, and yet in neither of the great political parties openly asking for the ballot.

The Black Diamond.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 31.—Great indignation is felt here over the seizure of the schooner Black Diamond, in Behring sea, by the U. S. revenue cutter Richard Rush. A public meeting will probably be held and resolutions passed for transmission to the imperial parliament, asking that the imperial government interfere in behalf of British vessels engaged in sealing trade. It is believed here that if a British man has been placed in charge of the Black Diamond her captain will not obey the Rush's orders and will sail for Victoria instead of Sitka.

Two British Vessels.

OTTAWA, July 31.—The Cabinet yesterday considered the seizure of the British vessels by the U. S. cutter in Behring's sea. A demand will at once be made on the British port for two vessels to proceed to Behring's sea to protect Canada's vessels from the U. S. cutter. Bonnell believes that several of the sealing schooners that sailed from Victoria are heavily armed and will be able to protect themselves, as they started with the intention of not being taken without a desperate struggle.

"A Washington Yarn."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The Chronicle, commenting on the statement that a man in Portland has received a letter from Washington in which the writer, who is an Indiana congressman, says that President Harrison told him that there would be no internal revenue collectors after a few months, says "this may be true, but the story sounds more like a Washington yarn than like a genuine letter from that city to Portland."

Sudden Death at Astoria.

ASTORIA, July 31.—Isaac W. Buchanan, a well-known steamboat engineer, who had been feeling poorly for some time, went on board the steamer Telephone this afternoon to go to Portland to-night.

"How are you feeling, Captain?" asked Captain Scott. "A good deal better," said Mr. Buchanan. He walked to the lower deck and dropped dead from heart disease. The body will be taken to Portland to-night.

THE JOKE OF THREE FRIENDS.

One of Them, While Under the Influence of Chloroform, Confesses.

ALBANY, Or., August 1.—Monday W. A. Hill, an engineer in charge of Thos. Froman's traction engine, went to Dr. Davis' office in this city with two harvest hands, and had the doctor give him chloroform in order to dress a wound in his left hand, received while working around the engine. While under the influence of chloroform, he kept muttering sentences about the wreck and said he did not open the switch, but he knew who did, and would die rather than give them away, said, "That boy pulled out the pin." Little attention was paid to what he said, as it was attributed to the ravings resulting from the chloroform.

Yesterday morning, however, he came back to have his arm dressed and appeared uneasy. He asked the doctor if he had heard anything about who opened the switch and caused the accident. The doctor replied, "Nothing, except what you told while under the influence of chloroform." This excited Hill and when Dr. Davis told him just what he said, he made a clean confession.

He said that on Sunday evening, in company with Fred and Herbert Rolf, who were working in a threshing crew with him, he left Albany for Froman's. They were partially intoxicated, and when passing the switch the younger Rolf brother stopped and placed a rock between the rails of the switch, and also tried to break open the lock. Hill said he and the older Rolf endeavored to dissuade him from tampering with the switch, and went on leaving him at work. Young Rolf soon overtook them and said he had unscrewed the bolt, removed the switch bar and pried over the rail, showing them the bolt. Instead of turning back to notify the train, the three men went on to Froman's.

Hill was visited by a reporter and made the same confession. He said the three were at the switch, when the younger of the other two, called Fred and Bert, of Sweet Home, said he was going to turn the switch in order to make the train go towards Lebanon, and he and the other one told him he had better not, and went on, when the boy soon followed, and said he had the nut, which they told him he had better throw away, and he threw something in the dark. This was before the Lebanon train went out.

Officers went into the country where Hill said the other two men were at work, found them and arrested them also on a charge of murder. They were lodged in jail. They were, of course, kept apart from each other and they told conflicting stories. The elder brother said that the three men went out Sunday evening together, but neither of them stopped at the switch. The younger said they stopped and cracked hazel nuts on the switch with rocks.

A RAILROAD FOR TILLAMOOK.

Tillamookers in Portland Trying to Induce Capital to Build It.

PORTLAND, August 1.—Tillamook county wants railroad connection with the outside world. She has made rapid progress in the past year or two, and her people have come to the conclusion that it is about time that the screech of the locomotive had broken the monotony of the great forests.

J. W. Maxwell, who represented the county in the lower house of the legislature last winter, is here to do what he can in the way of getting a railroad. He is not inclined to say much about his mission.

He says they have a vast amount of lumber and coal which only waits transportation facilities to be moved. They have numerous other products which would find a market if they had a railroad. Tillamook county has the business and are looking for the man who has the railroad.

I have not figured on the cost. He says there is a natural railroad pass from Tillamook to the Willamette valley, via the Grand Ronde Indian reservation.

Little Fear of War.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—An inquiry at the department of state this morning was met by the statement that absolutely no information had been received here respecting the seizure of the Triumph and Black Diamond except that contained in the Associated press dispatches.
